

South Country Village expansion on track

Oct. 26, 2010

MEDICINE HAT – Medican crews are taking full advantage of the balmy fall weather as they work on the expansion of the South Country Village senior complex.

“We’ve poured the majority of the foundation walls,” says Medican project manager Chris Hullah.

“Crews will be prepping the site now for shoring to support the structural slab pour, scheduled for mid November.”

Medican was awarded the contract to oversee the construction of the four storey, 40-suite expansion in the Summer.

The $8.5 million Heritage Heights expansion will four floors for a total of 64,000 sq. ft. and feature common amenities and underground parking. The project should be finished in about 10 months, says Hullah. At the height of construction, some 60 local tradespeople will be working on the site.

The Alberta Government provided $1 million to help complete the construction of the 40 additional suites.

The funding is part of the government’s Rural Affordable Supportive Living program.
